Harrisburg is Featured in Phone Publication

OUR TOWN: One of the most extensive and best stories about Harrisburg appears in the February issue of the General Telephone Company of Illinois News.

It covers nearly seven complete pages of the slick-paper magazine published monthly in the interest of company employees.

And besides the article, entitled "Harrisburg Has First TV Station Served by Company; City Is Trading Center, Important Coal Mining Area," the cover is inspired by WSIL-TV.

The article begins with a description of television building, its programs, its ownership. And with this description are seven pictures of the premises and personnel.

And it mentions that the TV owners also own the 72-room Horning hotel "which is undergoing remodeling and where a 70-line PBX system will be installed. When this is completed it will be the finest hotel in this part of the state."

Next the article says:

"The Harrisburg Chronicle, the city's first newspaper, first mentioned the telephone on July 2, 1880, when it ran an item saying that H. H. Harris had connected his office and residence with a telephone. The paper commented that 'the material used is first class and works all right'."

It continues with the history of the telephone in Harrisburg, declaring that in 1888 the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Co. extended its lines to Harrisburg and set up its offices and exchange in the Skaggs building on the west side of the court house square.

"At that time they had 140 stations in Harrisburg and Eldorado," the article says. "T. J. Mocky was the manager and the first operator. Mrs. D. B. McGehee, is still living in Harrisburg. Miss Jessie Richardson (Mrs. Ed Blankenship of Eldorado) was the first night operator. Rates originally were $1.50 a month."

Prior to 1898, it continues, there was an exchange at Raleigh with toll lines to Harrisburg and Eldorado. In 1898 the Galatia Telephone Co. was formed and opened exchanges in Galatia, Harrisburg and Eldorado, but in 1902 the Cumberland Co. acquired the Galatia firm.

In 1923 the Cumberland and some other companies were combined to form the Illinois Southern Telephone Co. which was the largest basic company making up the Illinois Commercial Telephone Co., now General Telephone Company of Illinois, when organized in February, 1928.

At the close of 1953, the article says, there were 3,915 telephone stations in Harrisburg.

Next part of the article tells of the early days, when the county was formed, and carries pictures of last October's Homecoming parade. It tells of the early crops, of coal mining, of railroads, its businesses and its nearness to a great recreational area.

There are six photographs taken in the telephone offices and a half-dozen pictures taken around Harrisburg. The Adolph Smith and Kenneth Keith homes, the Dorrisville housing development, the Presbyterian and McKinley Avenue Baptist churches and the Harrisburg Elks home.

On the final page are photos of the Harrisburg Dairy building, the Harrisburg hospital, a group in the recreational area and George Carr at work with his painting of Harry Taylor.

Work on the entire article was well-done. It is fine publicity for our city.

Council Passes New Lake Bond Ordinance

Ask Voters to Sign Petition For Referendum

Jaycees Will Aid In Getting Ordinance to a Vote

The city council this morning gave final passage to its second Lake Harrisburg ordinance and asked legal voters to sign a petition asking that the ordinance be submitted for a referendum.

The ordinance, No. 585, is printed in its entirety in today's issue of The Daily Register. It calls for issuance of $200,000 in bonds to secure a Lake Harrisburg and make other improvements.

The Harrisburg Junior Chamber of Commerce will aid in getting the ordinance to a vote by passing petitions requesting the referendum. The goal is 25 per cent of the number of voters in the last municipal election, which means that 1,375 names will be sought.

The referendum is desired to bring the matter to a head quickly because time is important. Time is running out on land options at the proposed lake site and even now, some options will have run out before an election can be held.

Petitions bearing some more than 10 per cent of the voters, asking for an election, were submitted after the council passed its first lake ordinance in December and the council was deciding upon a date for the election this month when Chapman and Cutler, Chicago bond attorneys, ruled that such an election would have to be held at the next municipal election, to be next year.

Then a new ordinance was drawn up, given first reading last week and final passage this morning. Working under the statute which provides that a special election can be called if 25 per cent of the voters petition, the Jaycees will be out urging everybody to sign a petition calling for a vote, as this will be the quickest way to get action started on the lake.

CITY CLERK'S OFFICE TO CLOSE SATURDAY MORNINGS

Rains Came Just In Time, Add to Water Supply

Yesterday's rainfall, which permitted the first pumping by the CIPS into the reservoir since Jan. 20, today gave the community several million more gallons of water at a time when the water supply would have lasted only a few days.

If the rain had not come, one source at the pumping station stated, the city would have been out of water at the reservoir by the end of the week.

But the rains came, with Harrisburg getting 1.25 inches and in the Galatia area, which is the Middle Fork creek watershed, the total was 2.06 inches.

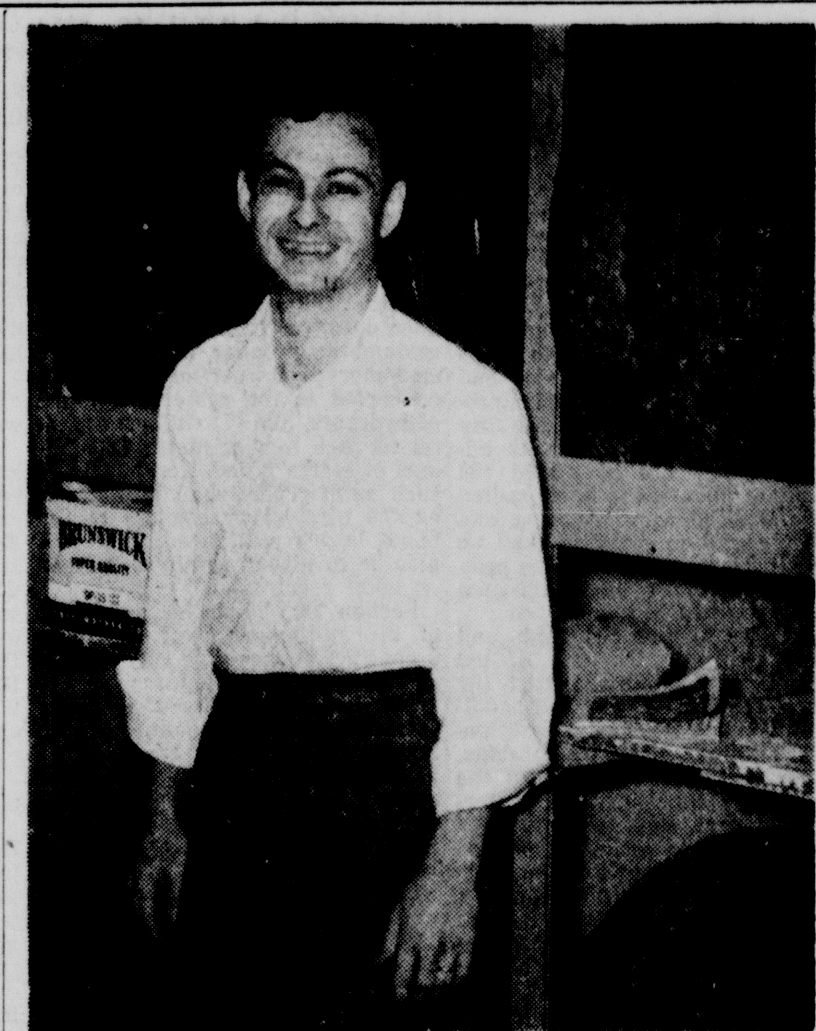

Water was slow in starting down Middle Fork yesterday but shortly after dark it got high enough for pumping.

At 6:30 p. m. there was enough water for the 750 and 3,000 gallons per minute pumps of the CIPS and for the 500 gallons per minute Congo pump upstream owned and operated by the city.

The water continued to rise and at 7:30 p. m. was high enough for the CIPS to start its huge 14,500 gallons per minute pump. This pump continued to send its stream into the reservoir for eleven hours and 15 minutes, or until 6:45 a. m. today when the creek dropped to such a level that it could not be used.

However, the 3,000, 750 and 500 gallon pumps were continuing to operate. It was believed the 3,000 and 750 gallon pumps could continue into the afternoon. The Congo pump, which is upstream, should run for several days, it was believed.

By 10:30 a. m. today the reservoir should have gotten around 14 million gallons of water from the rains, with around 10 million gallons coming from the 14,500 gallon pump and the remainder from the other.

Unemployment Climbs Above 3 Million Mark

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that if employment does not pick up next month he will consider taking emergency measures, including raising personal income tax exemptions, to make sure the nation does not skid into a depression.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The CIO and U. S. Chamber of Commerce clashed over the seriousness of the unemployment problem today as the government reported that the ranks of jobless climbed past the 3,000,000 mark last month.

In prepared congressional testimony, CIO President Walter P. Reuther charged that "complacency" and "political indifference" to rising unemployment are being "camouflaged behind the smoke screen of political name calling."

The chamber, also in testimony for the Joint Congressional Economic committee, maintained that the figures are "in no sense alarming" although unemployment always is burdensome to individuals affected.

The Commerce Department announced late Tuesday that a new survey—based on a broader sampling system—showed there were 3,087,000 jobless the first week in January.

This was 728,000 more than an earlier survey showed for the same week. It also was 1,237,000 above December and 1,659,000 above November, although the comparison is not entirely valid since these months were figured on the older survey system.

Nevertheless, the proportion of unemployment to the total labor force rose to 4.9 per cent, compared to the 5 to 7.2 per cent during the 1949-50 economic decline. Post-war unemployment had not previously topped 3,000,000 since mid-1950. Previous figures, of course, were computed from data gathered in the old survey system.

Register Advertising Deadlines Established For Dollar Days Copy

Harrisburg merchants planning to participate in the town-wide Dollar Days next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Feb. 25, 26, and 27, are reminded again to prepare their advertising copy for the event.

Because of the anticipated large volume of advertising for the town-wide promotion, it is necessary to establish early deadlines for advertising copy. Copy for Wednesday's Dollar Days edition of the Daily Register must be turned in by 5 p. m. Monday, Feb. 22. Merchants planning to make use of the Advertiser, for added out-of-town coverage, should have their copy prepared by 5 p. m. Saturday, Feb. 20. Joe Jackson and John Richard Small, of the Register advertising department, will contact all cooperating merchants before the first deadline date.

Lt. Gov. Korte Makes Official Visit to Kiwanis

Dr. Robert D. Korte, Metropolis, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis Division 16, made an official visit to the local club at its meeting held last night at the Masonic temple.

The lieutenant governor stressed the need of Kiwanis education throughout the year, especially for new members and the general public. Old members, too, need to study Kiwanis and can benefit both themselves and the club, Dr. Korte said. New members should be educated in Kiwanis work that they might fit into the clubs' projects and aims, he said.

The name Kiwanis, Dr. Korte said, has an Indian origin and it means just what you make it mean. Otherwise the name is meaningless, he said. Kiwanis has its origin on Jan. 21, 1915 and has grown to its present 220,000 members since that time, he said.

Dr. Korte also outlined the Division plans for this year and has named Fred Wunderlich, past president of the local club, division chairman of attendance and membership, and Arthur M. Debes of the local club division chairman of publicity and public relations. There are at present 13 clubs in Division 16.

Dr. Korte stressed the importance of Kiwanis clubs placing road signs on all entrances to their city giving the place and date and time of their meetings that visitors to the city may be reminded to keep up their attendance.

H. M. Kerchoff of Vandavia was a guest of H. C. Lewis at last night's meeting.

PMW Cuts Union Pensions to $50 Per Month

Payments for Miners' Widows Set at $30 Month

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The Progressive Mine Workers Union today announced it is cutting its monthly pensions for retired and disabled miners from $100 to $50 effective March 1.

The announcement was made in the independent union's newspaper, "The Progressive Miner." "The district board of the Progressive Mine Workers of America, with the joint state executive board, have instructed co-trustees of the PMWA welfare and retirement fund to set all pensions to retired members of the PMWA at $50 per month effective with the payment to be made on March 1, 1954," the newspaper said.

Similar cuts in pensions were announced recently by the United Mine Workers, the coal industry's biggest union. The rival PMWA claims 15,000 members, most of them in Illinois.

Ordered After Study

The PMW set pensions for miners' widows at $30 per month. Widows who have outside incomes will receive only the amount needed to bring their total monthly incomes to $30.

The newspaper said the new pension payments were ordered after the executive board "made a thorough and intensive study" of the pension program.

The PMW had previously overhauled the welfare plan last summer, halting payments, except for medical care benefits, June 1, and not resuming them until Sept. 1.

President William Crampton said all payments at that time were resumed at the old rates but hundreds of ineligible had been removed from the pension rolls and payment procedure had been streamlined.

The miners' welfare fund, which provides aid and pensions, is based on fees agreed to in the union contract on each ton of coal mined.

Boost Our Home Town, Winkleman Says in Lions Talk

"We should all work together for the good of Harrisburg, let's be a booster, not a knocker, for our home town," urged Claude Winkleman, president of the Businessmen's association of Harrisburg in a talk to the Lions club Tuesday evening.

Mr. Winkleman pointed out that Harrisburg could be the shopping center for thousands of persons in the surrounding area, but that everyone in Harrisburg would have to enter into a program of "selling" our town, talking of the good things about Harrisburg instead of always dwelling on the not so desirable features.

"The civic clubs can do a lot for Harrisburg and I urge that all of you get behind a program to make Harrisburg a better town and one that will be attractive to people in our neighboring communities," the speaker declared.

It was mentioned that the merchants of Harrisburg are working together on a Carnival of Values days to be held Feb. 25, 26 and 27 and that a lot of effort will be put in promoting these three big days.

Three new members were welcomed into the Lions club last night. They are County Clerk Don Garrison, John McDugle, manager of the Woolworth store, and Eddie Wise of radio station WEBQ.

Eldorado Reports $2,277 for March of Dimes

The Eldorado drive for the March of Dimes campaign netted $2,277.73, according to a report by Mrs. James Farkas, Eldorado drive chairman to A. M. Hetherington, head of the Saine County Chapter for Infantile Paralysis.

Mrs. Farkas' report shows the following contributions by divisions:

Church groups $51.58; business houses $478.90; schools $321.24; mothers' "march" $520.85; coin collectors $205.29.

March of Dimes cards $298.34; High school benefit basketball game $83.84; American Legion pitch for polio $277.14; clubs and organizations $111.50.

Mrs. Farkas has turned over a check for $2,277.73, making the amount an even figure in dollars. A. M. Hetherington, county chairman of the March of Dimes drive, reports collections for the polio campaign now total nearly $9,500. He urges all who have not returned their cards with their donations to do so at once that the county drive might reach $10,000.

War in Indochina Costing U. S. Half Billion Year; Will Continue to Go Up

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The war in Indochina which Admiral Arthur W. Radford called a satisfactory picture has been costing American taxpayers about 500 million dollars a year. And the cost is going up.

Radford, as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith discussed the war Tuesday with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Senators were alarmed lest American ground troops follow Air Force technicians to Indochina, and that incidents would draw the United States in as an active belligerent.

Reds Build Up Phony Crisis
Smith and Radford evidently calmed their fears. Smith indicated the Communists had built up a phony Indochinese crisis just new for its effect on the expiring Berlin foreign ministers conference.

Communist victories, he said, did not amount to much—they were no more than "real estate victories."

Some others contend, however, that the Indochinese war has been just one big victory so far for the Communists. Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) is a member of the foreign relations committee and an advocate of big and continued aid to the French forces fighting Communism in Indochina.

International Communism is continuing in Indochina the spending pressure upon the United States which was so successfully applied during the Korean War.

Taxpayers will not soon forget the boost in rates which followed the North Korean surge southward.

Pay 60 Per Cent of Cost Mansfield estimated two or three years of steady build-up would be necessary to overwhelm Communist pressure in Indochina. Meantime, the United States has been paying about 40 per cent of the war cost there. Under an agreement signed last September the United States' share has risen to 60 per cent.

Military aid began in 1950. Since then more than 350 shiploads of United States arms and munitions have reached Indochinese ports, Mansfield reported. He estimated the overall cost to the United States before the September agreement at about 500 million dollars a year. The agreement added 385 million dollars to be spent in the following 15 months.

The United States agreed to raise its contribution in exchange for a French promise to intensify its war effort. There had been a widespread feeling that the French were dragging their heels; hankering for a negotiated peace.

German Unity Hopes Dashed By Molotov

East and West Inch Closer to Far East Conference
BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today nailed the lid on the coffin of Germany's hopes for unification in a speech to the foreign ministers' conference demanding unification only on Moscow's terms.

The Soviet foreign minister also reiterated his unacceptable proposal for a Kremlin-dominated 32-nation security pact.

The only glimmer of hope for the expiring conference was a report that East and West were inching closer to agreement on a Far Eastern conference—including Red China—to discuss Korean and Indochinese issues.

Molotov made clear Russia's unyielding position on Germany and European security in the opening address to today's next-to-the-last plenary session.

It was the 25th session of the Big Four foreign ministers since the ill-starred conference began. Negotiations for the Far Eastern conference were conducted in a secret meeting of the ministers before today's plenary session and will be continued at another secret session Thursday—the final day of the conference.

It was admitted that the negotiations might still collapse. But some Western diplomats who believed Tuesday night that there could be no agreement said today there seemed to be a 6-to-4 chance that a Far Eastern conference may be arranged.

The conference would take up the issue of a Korean peace treaty first and a means of ending the war in Indochina later.

The Western allies have suggested that the conference be held in Geneva, Switzerland, April 15.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov has agreed tentatively to the site and date suggested by the Western foreign ministers. But there is still disagreement on the status of the Chinese Communists in the meeting, as compared to the Big Four powers, and the question whether the talks should be limited strictly to Korea and Indochina.

Molotov has now agreed that the conference shall be one to discuss Far Eastern problems. But he still insists that the participating countries should have the right to raise other issues.

The Russian bid for a world disarmament conference also was discussed at the secret meeting. Western sources said there seemed a chance that Molotov would agree to the Western proposal to put the whole disarmament problem in the hands of the United Nations Preliminary Commission for preliminary consideration.

Molotov was guest of honor at a lunch given by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden after today's secret session and will be host to all three Western ministers at a dinner tonight.

President Asks 13 Amendments To Atomic Act

Proposes Information On Battlefield and Peacetime Uses

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to unshackle the atom for defense of the free world and for industrial developments at home and abroad which will lead "mankind into a new era of progress and peace."

In a special 3,700-word message, he asked the House and Senate for 13 amendments to the Atomic Energy Act which would enable this country to:

1. Give America's allies information on battlefield uses of atomic weapons and defense against atomic attack. For "our own security" the free world must become "an effective defense of this era." He did not ask sharing of information on strategic use of A-bombs or hydrogen weapons.

2. Give friendly nations information on peacetime atomic developments, including power, and transfer to them atomic fuels needed for such developments.

Private-Owned Plants

3. Permit private U. S. industry, at home and abroad, to exploit the atom's tremendous store of energy for power. Mr. Eisenhower said private industry should be permitted to own and operate atomic plants, buy or lease atomic fuels from the government, manufacture such materials, and obtain patents. Most of this would be done under licenses from the Atomic Energy Commission. Patents would not become exclusive for about five years.

4. Transfer responsibility for control of secret atomic weapons information from the AEC to the Defense Department, remove some weapons from the "restricted data" category, and permit—with joint AEC and Defense Department sanction—publication of such weapons information as can be released without hurting national security. Says Law is Outmoded

5. Relax certain personnel security rules to do away with "costly" and "unnecessary" clearance of persons such as unskilled laborers who have no or only limited access to restricted data.

Congress is believed sure to approve the President's requests on sharing tactical atomic information with America's allies and on encouraging U. S. industry to invest in atomic power.

Approval of his proposal to share atomic power information and fuels with friendly nations may be difficult to obtain unless the administration can convince Congress that security safeguards will be adequate.

Mr. Eisenhower said the Atomic Energy Law began to be outmoded in some of its restrictions almost from the time it was enacted in 1946.

Each year since then, he said, has seen atomic advances "exceeding even progressive estimates."

And, he noted, in 1949 the U. S. monopoly of atomic weapons was destroyed by the first Soviet A-

Both principal of and interest on this bond are hereby made payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the American National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, Chicago, Illinois. This bond is payable solely from revenue derived from the waterworks system of said City and not otherwise, and is issued under authority of the Revised Cities and Villages Act, and all laws amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto, for the purpose of paying the cost of necessary improvements and extensions to the waterworks system of said City, and this bond does not constitute an indebtedness of said City within the meaning of any constitutional provision or statutory limitation.

Under said Act and the ordinance adopted pursuant thereto, the entire revenue derived and to be derived from the operation of the waterworks system of this City shall be deposited in a separate fund designated as the "Water Fund of the City of Harrisburg" which shall be used only for the purpose of paying the cost of operation and maintaining such system, providing an adequate depreciation fund, and paying the principal of and interest on the bonds of said City that are issued under authority of said Act and are payable by their terms only from the revenue of such system, and creating and maintaining the several accounts established by the ordinance authorizing the issue of bonds of which this bond is one.

After notice of redemption has been given in accordance herewith and funds are on deposit with the paying agent to pay the said bonds to be redeemed, interest thereon shall cease from and after the date of redemption.

It is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions, and things required by the Constitution and statutes of the State of Illinois to be done precedent to and in the issuance of this bond and in raising funds to promptly assure payment of the same have been done, and have happened and have been performed in regular and due form of law, and that provision has been made for depositing in said Water Fund the entire revenues received from the operation of said waterworks system, to be applied in the manner as hereinabove set forth; that it is hereby covenanted and agreed that rates will be charged for the use and service of such waterworks system sufficient at all times to pay the principal of and interest upon all bonds issued by said City which are payable solely from the revenues of such waterworks system.

This bond may be registered as to principal in the name of the holder, on the books of said City in the office of the City Treasurer, such registration to be evidenced by notation of said Treasurer on the back hereof, after which no transfer hereof shall be valid unless made on said books and similarly noted hereon, but it may be discharged from such registration by being transferred to bearer, after which it shall be transferable by delivery, but it may be again registered as before. The registration of this bond shall not restrict the negotiability of the coupons by delivery merely.

This Traffic Light was Just a Trouble-Maker

FREDERICKSBURG, O. (AP)—A single traffic light has certainly caused this village of 517 a lot of trouble.

Three years ago the signal was purchased and put up at the intersection of Clay and Mill streets. A state survey of traffic conditions was made to determine how the light should be set. Later a second check was made and a change in the red-and-green settings was ordered.

Council decided it was too expensive to have the light readjusted every few months, so it was set to amber as a permanent caution signal.

That didn't end it, however, because residents in the area complained that the regularly flickering signal interfered with radio and television reception.

That did it! Council decided the light just wasn't worth all the bother and ordered it removed.

Section 12. That the provisions of this ordinance shall constitute a contract between the City of Harrisburg and the holders of the bonds herein authorized to be issued, and after the issuance of said bonds, no changes, additions or alterations of any kind shall be made hereto, except as hereinbefore provided, until all of said bonds and the interest thereon shall have been paid in full, or unless and until provision shall have been made for the payment thereof.

Those Hit-and-Run Deer Are Mighty Dangerous

NORTH POMFRET, N. H.—Ralph Kenyon of West Hartford is convinced you can't buck a buck. He's got aches to prove so.

Kenyon and companions were following a pack of deer when one of them—a big buck—veered off in another direction, only to become the target of another hunting party.

The bullets missed and the buck made another track. A member of Kenyon's group told him to head off the animal.

Kenyon raced to where he thought his "prey" went. He was wrong. The buck ran smack into him.

As Kenyon lay on the ground, the deer was breaking speed records.

Woman Faces Multiple Driving Charges

PITTSBURG, Calif.—Mrs. Joanne Groves, 49, faced multiple hit-run charges today after she knocked down her car port, plowed through her kitchen wall, sideswiped a car on the highway, crashed into the parked cars of two sheriff's deputies and fled from her battered automobile wearing nothing but a nightgown.

Improvements Planned in 3 Park Districts

Proposed improvements at the three parks included in the Eldorado-Raleigh Park district have been revealed by Mrs. Jessie Evans, secretary of the board of directors.

The three units are Karel park, on the banks of the Eldorado reservoir, Mahoney Memorial park in Eldorado and the Raleigh park, located across the highway from Raleigh school.

Erection of an archway at the main entrance to Mahoney Memorial park and installation of considerable playground equipment are the big items of improvement for the Eldorado park.

A tree and hedge planting program will also be started this year and plans are being considered to clean out the old swimming pool and make it available as a wading pool.

Mrs. Evans said "Of course the 'dream' of all members of the park board is to have a swimming pool at the park some day, but right now we can only make plans for a wading pool, as our funds are rather limited."

A new shelter house will probably be built at Karel park and lights will be installed at Raleigh so that the park there can be used at night.

Plans are being considered for two big holiday celebrations—an all day celebration July 4 at Karel park and an "old fashioned" Labor Day observance at Mahoney park.

The Eldorado-Raleigh Park district has made tremendous strides in the past few years in developing parks for recreational uses for people of this area and the board of directors are looking forward to even more progress in the future.

Britain's Queen Mother to Visit U.S.

LONDON—Queen Mother Elizabeth has agreed to visit the United States this autumn. Her decision is another victory in the adroit campaign waged by her children to keep her from retirement.

It's a "keep-mother-busy" conspiracy in which her daughters, Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret, and her son-in-law, the Duke of Edinburgh, are the affectionate conspirators.

Since the sudden death of King George VI two years ago the Queen Mother, grievously stricken by his passing, has tried to get away from the court life which they shared for so long.

She bought a castle at Mey in one of the most isolated parts of Scotland and told her worried family that she was going to spend most of her time there.

Death Rates

Among western countries, it usually is found that the death rates are lowest among the married and highest for the widowed and divorced, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Come by bus, train, airplane, automobile or afoot, but be sure to come for fun, excitement and bargains. Better follow the crowd and line up at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning to rush in and grab an armload of this junk. The more you spend—the more you save ? ? ?

HERE'S NEWS THAT'LL SWEEP THE TOWN . . . and, maybe that's what we should be doing instead of trying to persuade you that you could do worse than get in line tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock for this lovely $29.95 electric razor. Surely, $14.88 is a steal for next to your skin at $14.88

YOU HAVE OUR SYMPATHY . . . trying to support a wife and the government on the same income, because they're both very demanding. But, we won't demand much more from you. We'll give you a pair of men's 3/4 to 7/8 socks. On second thought, we'll be tickled pink to get pair 21c

A STARTLING ANNOUNCEMENT . . . Men's pants drop a new low! Wish we could drop the whole 44 pairs of these $5.95 to $7.95 slacks tomorrow $3.77

IT DOESN'T TAKE A 3-D MOVIE . . . to have things come at you from all directions. Ask any married man. We thought you had about cleaned us out of "doggy" ties only to discover these 95 maroon at $15.00. Maybe you'll come at 'em from all directions if we whisper 2 for $1.00

THE OLD GREY TWEEDS AIN'T WHAT THEY USED TO BE . . . and, neither is the price tag on this group of 5 all wool tweed topsuits in sizes 34 to 38. Don't tempt us tomorrow by offering $45 or $50. We'll bend over backwards $22

WHAT GOES ON UNDERNEATH . . . makes no difference anyhow. So why not get a pair of these men's droopy drawers tomorrow. Only 20 in the group and they'll make good dog chaps. Maybe not at the original price of $5c to $12.25 but you can't lose much at 44c

WATCH YOUR STEP! . . . We've been told real trouble often starts out by being fun. And, to think we were so happy when we bought this group of men's sport shirts. But, look at us now—just begging you to take some of these off our hands, not $1.99 at $2.95 to $3.50, but only $1.99

THE PRIDE OF THE IRISH . . . but where are the Irish? We're not so proud of these 3 green suede jackets (sizes 40 & 46). And the original $24.95 price didn't seem to thrill you too much. Just try to make us an offer tomorrow of $12.88

WIN 'EM AND WOW 'EM . . . but it's up to you as to how you go about it. Wish we could guarantee good results with one of these baggy wool sport coats. We might have, at the original $26.50, but not $14

NO HUNTING . . . for any special size, size or color. You're supposed to take the one on the top first, and hope for the best. But, if you're real choosy, just dig down to the bottom of this pile of dress shirts that were $2.55 to $3.55 and see what you come up with. Hope you decide $1.77 (no tips to offer us)

CASH IS KING . . . the man said, when we bought these 34 men's all wool suits to sell at $45. We thought we made a good buy, but did we get crowded? We'll abdicate the throne tomorrow, if any of these suits you at $22

HE WHO HORSES AROUND TOO MUCH . . . may find himself a grouch. Then, he wouldn't have any use for one of these leather bluffs, because his bride would take care of his fending money. Better get one of these $3.50 to $5 bluffs $1.50 while you can at

NEVER MIND THE WEATHER . . . Sunshine, rain, sleet, snow or ice, Thursday, Friday and Saturday are "Dog Days" at Hart's. Come by bus, train, airplane, automobile or afoot, but be sure to come for fun, excitement and bargains. Better follow the crowd and line up at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning to rush in and grab an armload of this junk. The more you spend—the more you save ? ? ?

PECKVILLE, Pa.—A young bride of 11 days lapsed into a coma and died Tuesday night without ever knowing she was afflicted with the fatal blood disease leukemia.

Mrs. Marie Chulak, 21, died in the arms of her husband, Paul, who learned of his wife's condition shortly before their marriage Feb. 6, following a required blood test.

Chulak, a Pennsylvania state trooper, broke down and wept bitterly at his wife's death.

Chulak, 21, and the girl, the former Marie Rebar, his high school sweetheart, were married in their home town of Olyphant.

They started on a honeymoon to New York—Paul knowing that his bride had a fatal disease to which she would soon succumb and Marie unaware of her condition.

The couple got only 30 miles when Marie became ill.

Four Housewives Satisfied Coffee Is Not Held Back

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Four American housewives who have been touring southern Brazil returned to the United States tonight, satisfied that "no coffee is being held back at the point of production."

Mrs. Theodore Chapman, Jerseyville, Ill., Mrs. Zapo Schroeder, Grosse Pointe, Mich., Mrs. Carl Swanbeck, Huron, Ohio, and Mrs. Gilbert Loeb, Waterville, Maine, tramped through acres of frost-blighted coffee plants on their tour of Paraná state, the "golden land" of Brazilian coffee.

Mrs. Chapman said they were surprised by the extent of the frost damage, which will make the affected plants unproductive for at least the next year or two.

"We saw the empty warehouses," she added. "We are convinced no coffee is being held back at the point of production."

They were sent here by the U. S. General Federation of Women's Clubs at the invitation of the Brazilian Coffee Institute, to get the "full story" of the current coffee shortage.

A Life's Savings

DeLAND, Fla. (AP)—Miss Lotie Dorsey, a teller at the Florida Bank of DeLand, said an aged Negro appeared in the bank recently hauling a battered old trunk which he said held his life savings.

Miss Dorsey took one look in the trunk and called in her sister to help count the pile of change. The final tally was $1,612.50, including 7,650 pennies.

When it was counted and deposited, the old man smiled and said, "Now I can sleep nights without worrying."

Urges Demos to Make Issue of Home Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democratic Whip John W. McCormack (Mass.) prodded Democratic House members today to "make a real issue" of the administration's home defense plans.

Minority members of the Armed Services and Military Appropriations committees disclosed they had received letters from McCormack urging them to explore "very carefully" what preparations have been made to protect big cities against atomic attack.

He said official statements indicate home-front defenses are "not only inadequate but very weak."

"I think this gives the Democratic Party an excellent opportunity in this session of Congress to make a real issue in the best interests of our people and our country," McCormack advised his fellow party members.

Meanwhile, Rep. Sterling Cole (R-N. Y.), chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, said in a Chicago speech today that the United States should marshal "a series of thousands of atomic missiles" to "guard all vulnerable approaches to the North American continent."

He called for a continental defense system "commensurate with our peril."

McCormack quoted from statements by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson, and Armed Services Committee Chairman Dewey Short (R-Mo.) to show that defense officials can't promise much warning, and hope to block only 25 or 30 per cent of an attacking bomber fleet.

He said he is "very much concerned" at this. He said he is interested not only in how much damage we can inflict on the enemy, in retaliation, but also in protecting the home front "as much as we possibly can."

Ex-GI, En Route Home from POW Camp, Loses Billfold

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Police appealed today for the return of a billfold containing $412 lost by an ex-soldier en route home after 2 1/2 years in a Korean prisoner of war camp.

Donald Jellema, 24, on his way back to Pittsburgh, Pa., after his discharge from the Army, reported his billfold disappeared while he was sitting in a theater here Tuesday watching a movie.

Jellema, a former sergeant, said the billfold contained $412, his discharge papers and a bus ticket to Pittsburgh.

Detective Sgt. Russell Wilson appealed for the return of the billfold. Wilson said "if you think you have had tough luck, you should hear about young Jellema."

Wilson told this story.

Jellema's parents and sister were killed in an auto accident in 1949, the year before he entered military service.

He was sent to Korea and captured by the Communists in February, 1951. He lost sight of his right eye at the time of his capture. A kick by a guard caused an injury to his arm which still bothers him.

Jellema finally was released by the Reds last September. He had lost 50 pounds. The sergeant was mustered out of the Army at Camp Carson, Colo., Feb. 3, and was making a leisurely trip back to Pittsburgh when he lost his billfold.

House Group Boosts Exemptions on Retirement Income

By United Press
The House Ways and Means committee today pierced the $1,250,000,000 tax cut ceiling proposed by President Eisenhower.

It did so in approving legislation to exempt the first $1,200 of retirement income from federal taxes. The proposal, if enacted, would save teachers and others with retirement incomes an estimated 275-to-300-million dollars a year.

The committee is considering an administration program to overhaul and rewrite the federal tax system. The President had recommended that potential revenue losses be held to $1,250,000,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Before today's action the committee already had approved tax changes that would make the loss approximately the figure set by the President. Today's proposal would breach the ceiling.

Most of the changes voted by the committee, including today's, will become effective next Jan. 1 if enacted.

Blind Americans
Today there are more than 260,000 blind Americans. They make up a metropolis of darkness larger than the population of Providence, Miami, Dayton or Omaha. Another 1,000,000 men and women are blind in one eye; and thousands of Americans have vision that is only barely useful.

Wildcats Trip Rosiclare, 65-53; 29th Home Win

A 21-point fourth quarter carried the Wildcats of Carrier Mills to an undefeated season on their home court, 65 to 53, over a persistent Rosiclare five.

It was the Wildcats' 10th straight home court win this season and their 29th straight win at home. Carrier Mills now has an 18-2 won-loss record for this year.

Breaking fast in the first quarter Carrier Mills raced to a 17 to 10 advantage. Rosiclare came roaring back at the Wildcats in the second quarter to take a one point, 26 to 25, lead at halftime.

The third quarter saw Carrier Mills outscore the Bears from Rosiclare 19 to 16 to lead by two points as the final stanza got underway. In the fourth the Wildcats rolled to eight straight points to lead by ten before the Bears made a field goal.

Oliver Rollins again led the Wildcats with 24 points with teammate Sterling Cowger hitting for 13. Kirk led the Bears with 15 followed by Jennings with 12.

The Wildcats will journey to Norris City Friday night and will play at Eldorado and Cave-in-Rock next week to finish their schedule for this season.

Rosiclare took a thrilling preliminary game from the Wildcats, 65 to 57.

Eldorado Eagles Defeat Ridgway

Eldorado, coming back strong in the second half, rolled to a 68-51 victory over Ridgway last night. The game was played at Eldorado. The opening quarters were played on even terms, the score being knotted 10-all after one frame was completed and Ridgway led 27-26 when the teams went to their dressing rooms for the halftime intermission.

Eldorado outscored Ridgway 24-10 in the third frame, to take a commanding lead of 50-37 and made it hold up during the last eight minutes of action. During the big third quarter Mackovjak, who collected 15 points during the game, hit for 11 markers.

Hise, Ridgway's hard driving captain, accounted for 19 points before fouling out in the fourth quarter, pacing both teams in the scoring department.

The preliminary game also went to Eldorado, 57-53. It was a see-saw affair all the way, Ridgway leading 10-9 at the quarter, 27-26 at halftime and the score was tied 41-41 after three quarters. Eldorado travels to McLeansboro Friday night and the same evening Ridgway hosts Vienna. This will close out the regular season for Ridgway, but the district tournament will be held there, starting Wednesday, Feb. 24.

Grayville Downs Norris City for 25th Straight Victory

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Grayville's Bisons advanced to within one game of their first perfect Illinois prep basketball season today after chalking up their 25th straight victory Tuesday night.

Grayville downed Norris City 74-56. The Bisons have filled an open date on their schedule Friday with a game against Carmi to wind up the season, and then begin working for their first regional tourney crown.

Grayville is seeded second to the host club in the Mount Carmel regional. Grayville's opening game foe is Mills Prairie, the team it beat in the opening game of the season to start the winning streak.

Grayville has beaten every team entered in the regional except Mount Carmel. Mount Carmel exhibited its power Tuesday night by swamping a good Robinson club 72-54. It was the 12th win in a row and the 19th of the season against only three defeats for the Golden Aces.

Don Liddle IN THE Sport Parade

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Little Don Liddle, the nearest thing to Bobby Shantz in the National League today, is bent upon proving both to the Giants and himself that he wasn't merely "a throw in" in the deal for Bobby Thomson.

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli, who also came to the Giants from Milwaukee in the Thomson trade, rated far more headlines than Liddle, even though he won only five more games for the Braves last season.

But some experts feel that the 5-foot, 9-inch, 155-pound Liddle, who looks and pitches somewhat like Shantz, could be the "sleeper" in the deal.

"I think it will mean much more for me now that I'm with the Giants," says Liddle, obviously happy. "The more work I get the better I like it."

Had Little Work
With Milwaukee last season, the left-handed Liddle had to take a

DON LIDDLE IS WELL KNOWN HERE

Don Liddle, who hails from Mt. Carmel, is well known to local baseball fans. Last summer he bested Big John Romonosky, a local pitcher who is with the St. Louis Cardinals, in a late season game between the Legion and Carmac teams. He also beat Romonosky in a major league game played at Milwaukee during the regular season.

back seat to such other hurlers as Warren Spahn, Max Surkont, Lew Burdette, Bob Buhl and Antonelli. Manager Charlie Grimm simply didn't have enough work for all his hurlers.

"I wasn't unhappy in Milwaukee," Liddle explains, "but this deal gives me a chance to better myself."

Liddle, who has nothing but praise for Grimm, was assigned to the Braves' bullpen at the start of last season. He received his big break May 10th when Spahn pulled a muscle in his side, and couldn't pitch against the Cubs.

"So I decided to give Liddle a starting chance," recalls Grimm, "and the little guy stood 'em on their heads. He pitched a two-hitter in his first big league start."

Six days later, he dropped a 3-0 decision to the Phillies but on May 25, he limited Cincinnati to three hits and came out on top of a 5-1 score. Still, Grimm couldn't use the eager little Mt. Carmel, Ill., southpaw too often because the Braves boasted other outstanding pitchers, too.

Liked By Durocher
When Don tossed a five-hitter against Pittsburgh June 14, Durocher said jubilantly, "I wish I had a dozen guys like Liddle. I might not be able to pitch 'em as often as I'd like, but they're great to have on your ball club."

The long stretches of idleness between starts began to tell and after a couple of losses, Liddle was sent back to the bullpen in August. He started only one game thereafter, late in September, but wound up with seven victories and a creditable 3.07 earned run average.

"Every time he worked against us I liked him," Giant Manager Leo Durocher declares. "He's a battler and I have a feeling he's going to be a big help this summer."

Prior to making his big league debut with the Braves last season, Liddle led the American Association with 159 strikeouts in 1952.

"They called Liddle 'the Bobby Shantz' that year," says infielder Billy Klaus, who was Don's teammate and also came to the Giants in the Thomson deal. "Don has what it takes and I'm sure he'll be a big winner."

The Giants are counting on it, too.

Selvy Adds Three More Records for Total of 18 In 57-Point Scoring Spree

NEW YORK (AP) — Flashy Frank Selvy, Furman's one-man point machine, added three more all-time college basketball records to his collection to give him a grand total of 18 national marks.

The 6-foot, 3-inch Furman senior, who can hook 'em, pop 'em, and lay 'em up, went on another spree Tuesday night with 57 points in leading his team in a fantastic 123-102 victory over Wofford at Greenville, S. C. That gave him these new all-time records:

1. A new single-season major college record of 925 points, smashing the old mark of 884 set last year by pint-sized Johnny O'Brien of Seattle.

2. A major college mark of 320 field goals in a season, breaking the record of 315 held by gigantic Clyde Lovellette of Kansas.

3. A career total of 825 field goals, breaking the mark of 808 held by Chet Giermak of William and Mary. Giermak compiled his total in four seasons, while Selvy still has five games to go to complete three varsity seasons.

O'Brien Mark Out of Reach

Two more all-time records now are within his reach: The three-year all-college major and small record of 838 field goals held by O'Brien and the four year all-college record of 859 field goals held by Nate Delong of River Falls, Wis. But it now appears that O'Brien's all-college career record of 2,537 is beyond Selvy, unless Furman gets into a post-season tournament and gives Selvy more games to play before he's finished. Right now Selvy has 2,254.

Duke wrestled the top spot in the ACC from Maryland by upsetting the Terrapins, 68-61, at Washington, D. C. The victory gives the Blue Devils a 4-1 conference record to 7-2 for Maryland. Maryland has one league game left and Duke three.

Texas gained its first place tie in the Southwest loop with a 66-49 victory over Texas A&M, to match the 6-2 league record of Rice.

George Washington, ranked 15th nationally, closed out its league season with a 69-58 victory over William and Mary.

Other Games
The Colorado Aggies pushed their Skyline Conference record to 10-1 and their overall mark to 18-4 by trouncing Denver, 58-45, as center Dennis Stuehl led the scoring with 15 points. The Aggies can clinch at least a tie for the title by winning one of their three remaining league games.

In other leading games Tuesday night, Arkansas trounced Baylor, 73-51, in the Southwest Conference; South Carolina nipped Clemson, 64-61, in the Atlantic Coast; Richmond trounced VMI, 94-76, in the Southern; Idaho edged Washington State, 45-42, in the Pacific Coast; teary-eyed Niagara ran its record to 16-5 with an easy 79-42 win over Rochester; soph John McCarthy scored 23 to lead Canisius to an 81-68 win over Siena; Jerry Vayda hit for 26 and Al Lifson for 25 to give North Carolina an 89-69 conquest of Davidson; Rice edged Lamar Tech, 69-65, in a non-league game; Pittsburgh routed West Virginia, 83-64; and Virginia beat Washington & Lee, 97-79.

Roberts Rejects Phillies' Offer Of Pay Boost

By United Press
Robin Roberts, the Phillies' star righthander who previously refused to take a pay cut, now refuses to accept a raise.

The husky hurler and Phillies President Bob Carpenter huddled for more than three hours Tuesday but agreed only to disagree. Carpenter said that Roberts was demanding "a bigger raise — more than the club saw fit to give him."

The Phils' head admitted that the first contract mailed to Roberts this year called for a pay cut from the reported $40,000 Roberts received last season. That was based on the reasoning that big Robbie won "only" 23 games last season, compared to 28 the year before.

But Roberts argued that, despite the lower number of wins, his worth to the team was just as great or greater in '53 because of his numerous appearances on the mound.

Minoso, Lane Fail To Agree

Carpenter said the Phils then sent Roberts a contract calling for the same salary as last year, and then altered it to give him a slight raise. Tuesday's conference was the result of Roberts' demand for a larger boost.

The White Sox held a telephone pow-wow with their only holdout, outfielder Minnie Minoso. But once again Minoso and Sox General Manager Frank Lane, talking over long-distance wires from Chicago to Cuba, failed to agree.

A Sox spokesman said Minoso has been offered "a generous raise" over the reported $22,500 he received last season and was told "that's about the maximum." It's reported Minoso wants $30,000.

Only shortstop Johnny Logan was left unsigned among the Milwaukee Braves regulars when second baseman Jack Dittmer came to terms. Dittmer, who faces a fight for his job from Danny O'Connell, who was obtained from Pittsburgh, agreed by telephone from Elkhart, Iowa.

Hearn Signs Contract

First baseman Dick Gernert and pitcher Ben Flowers both agreed to terms with the Red Sox and Gernert immediately underwent a workout at the Sox rookie school in Sarasota, Fla.

Pitcher Jim Hearn, who disappointed with a 9-12 record last season, and catcher Ray Katt, who hit .326 and clouted 28 homers for Minneapolis, signed their New York Giant contracts. And first baseman Don Bollweg, obtained from the Yankees, signed with the Philadelphia Athletics, leaving only outfielder Dave Philley, infielders Jim Finigan, and Forrest Jacobs, and pitcher John Gray still unsigned.

And there was hopeful news for the fans of the new Baltimore Orioles. Baltimore pitcher Dick Littlefield, who had a 13-7 record pitching for Cienfuegos of the Cuban League this winter, was announced as that league's strikeout king with 134 whiffs.

Thompsonville Loses Conference Tilt to Valier, 81-68

Thompsonville fell before Valier, 81-68, last night on the latter's court in a Little Egyptian conference clash. It was the second loop defeat of the season for the Tigers, who cinched the title last week when Royalton dropped two games. Thompsonville has one more conference game to play, that being Friday night at Bluford.

The "Welcome" nugget of gold, which was found in Australia, weighed 248 pounds.

New Booklet By Better Business Bureau Gives Facts About Color TV

Because of widespread public confusion on the subject of Color Television, the Better Business Bureau of St. Louis announced today that it is distributing approximately 7500 copies of a new booklet entitled "Facts About Color Television" in the public interest. An additional 2500 copies will be distributed through the cooperation of radio and television stations, television distributors, service companies, retailers, parts distributors, etc.

The booklet is the result of a questionnaire survey of all the nation's television manufacturers and presents a consensus of their opinion on this important subject.

The booklet states that returns from Better Business Bureau questionnaires clearly demonstrate that color receivers will be available in quantity in the near future or that the difference in price between color and black and white receivers will be a negligible factor. It is the consensus of the manufacturers' opinion that production of color sets during 1954 will be extremely small; that color television receivers will be relatively expensive, retailing somewhere between $700 and $1,000; and that picture sizes of the first color receivers will be relatively small. While a few color programs on a limited network will be broadcast to a number of our larger cities during 1954, most authorities in the industry are quoted as agreeing that color programs will be infrequent for many months or until enough color sets have been sold to make color programs worthwhile to the sponsor. It is also their opinion that black and white programs may outnumber color telecasts.

Orderly Evolution

In announcing publication of the new booklet, Harry W. Riehl, president of the Better Business Bureau of St. Louis stated:

"Color television will develop gradually as one more stage in the orderly evolution of the television industry. It will not foment revolution."

Share Atom with Free World: Eisenhower

bomb test. Since then Great Britain has developed atomic weapons and Russia has tested an H-bomb. The President said the eight years since the law was enacted have seen:

1. Production of "a wide variety of weapons" which "have today achieved conventional status in the arsenals of our armed forces."

Atomic Sub Launched

2. Development of the thermonuclear weapon (H-bomb) which "today dwarfs in destructive power all atomic weapons."

3. The launching of an atomic submarine (Jan. 21) which made it certain that the use of atomic energy for ship propulsion will ultimately become widespread."

4. Advances in machines for harnessing the atom which brings "economic industrial power from atomic energy sources . . . clearly in sight." Only further research is needed plus "the establishment of conditions in which the spirit of enterprise can flourish."

The President made it clear that in freeing the atom for defense and power all essential security safeguards must be maintained. But he said the time has come to remove restriction which "impede the proper exploitation of nuclear energy for the benefit of the American people and of our friends throughout the world."

Monopoly Has Disappeared

Although he proposed 13 amendments in all, a number of them deal with related matters so that they condense to the five main objectives listed.

Their total purpose, Mr. Eisenhower said, is to "help make it possible for American atomic energy development, public and private, to play a full and effective part in leading mankind into a new era of progress and peace."

The President's recommendations were based on the fact that American monopoly of atomic weapons in 1946 has since disappeared and that this country must now move forward to strengthen the entire free world in the field of atomic energy.

Mr. Eisenhower noted that a wide variety of atomic weapons now have achieved "conventional status in the arsenal of our armed forces." This indicated rapid development.

State Payroll Shows Decline

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—State payrolls dropped by $132,989 from $12,635,257 in November to $12,502,276 in December last year, a state auditor's report shows.

Total employees dropped from 44,764 to 44,371, including a drop from 42,576 to 42,527 regular employees and 2,188 to 1,844 extra and student help.

Total payrolls for constitutional officers and major commissions went up while the University of Illinois, other educational institutions and miscellaneous boards trimmed their payrolls.

Rapidly Approaching a Fateful Decision

The WASHINGTON

Five Democrats Recommended

WASHINGTON — The inside story of how Congressman Ernest and convicted can now be told.

His prosecution caused the firing of five Democratic lawyers who didn't want to prosecute this Republican congressman.

They were overruled by a new Justice Department executive who happens to be a Republican and who ordered the case to trial.

Though Attorney General Brownell has been charged with playing politics in certain cases, his associates certainly did not play politics in this one.

Here is how the backstage story unfolds:

In December, 1952, as the Truman administration was about to leave office, the Democratic central committee of Santa Barbara, Calif., which is part of Bramblett's district, sent a telegram to Attorney General James McGranery, a Democrat, which read in part:

"Drew Pearson has filed with the Justice Department his published charge that Congressman Ernest Bramblett obtained salary kickbacks from his employees. We urge that you prosecute before new administration comes in and whitewashes this."

The telegram went in due course to Charles Murray, then assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's criminal division, who forwarded it on to his chief assistant, Andrew Oehlmann, with this note:

"Andy — Let's not assume justice will miscarry when our successors take over. Give this the usual treatment."

Murray's confidence in the ensuing Republican administration was not misplaced. They proved more anxious to prosecute a fellow Republican than did certain Democrats.

DEMOCRATS SAY NO
The kickback charges against Bramblett were processed in due course, and on January 14, Attorney General McGranery, the outgoing attorney general, ordered prosecution in a letter which he himself signed.

Since only six days remained before Eisenhower was to be inaugurated and Attorney General Brownell took over, it was obvious impossible to prosecute and the matter was delayed. It did not come before the new Republican chief of the criminal division, Warren Olney, III, until March.

At that time there passed across his desk a routine recommendation that the criminal charges against Congressman Bramblett be dismissed. Ordinarily, Olney might have O. K.'d the recommendation, since it was signed by men fami-lar with the case. But being new in office and being from California, as is Bramblett, he took a second look.

The five subordinate attorneys who found no ground for prosecuting the Republican congressman were all appointed by Democrats.
Despite this unanimous recommendation, the more Olney looked at the case the more skeptical he became that either some kind of a fix had been put in to save Bramblett or else a trap had been laid to embarrass him as the new chief of the criminal division.

So he asked for the entire Bramblett file and turned it over to an independent attorney of his own choosing.

NEW DOCUMENTS
DISCOVERED
This attorney turned up several interesting and extremely important documents which had been held out of the abbreviated file which had come across the desk of the new assistant attorney general.

One of them was the signed order by Attorney General McGranery for criminal prosecution. His letter listed several laws which Bramblett had violated. It was emphatic and unequivocal.

Another was a notation that Edward B. Williams, Bramblett's attorney, had called at the Justice Department on Jan. 9, 1953, stating that he was acquainted with Mr. Olney, the new Republican who was about to take over the criminal division. The memo stated that Williams mentioned this friendship and asked for favorable consideration in the Bramblett case.

Later it developed in court testimony that Bramblett had phoned his campaign manager, John Har-daway, at about this time, telling him not to worry, that everything was being "fixed."

The omission of these two documents from the file handed to Ol-ney was significant. The McGranery letter, categorically recommending prosecution, showed that the outgoing Democrats were all set to throw the book at Bramblett.
The second document, stating that Williams, a reputed friend of Ol-ney's, asked for favorable consideration, might have led to the conclusion that Olney, the new Republican chief, was fixing a case for a friend.

So Olney called in the five Democratic attorneys and fired them. He also ordered the prosecution of Bramblett.

Reason for firing the five attorneys was not that they made a mistake in recommending dismissal of the Bramblett case, but because they withheld pertinent information. The deliberate omission of Attorney General McGran-ery's letter from the files appeared either calculated to carry out a fix for Bramblett or else to en-trap the new Republican chief into dismissing criminal charges against a fellow Republican.

Olney is not a man who dismisses cases haphazardly — regardless of politics. He was appointed by Considering all that's been going on since Congress adjourned, it's hard to figure what the senators and congressmen can do upon meeting again in January except add

Backstairs At The White House

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

WASHINGTON — Backstairs

at the White House:
There has been evidence recently of much public curiosity about the role of Robert Montgomery, the screen actor and television producer, at the White House.

Actually, his presence as a consultant on the President's radio and TV appearances is the result of a long chain of events dating back to the post-campaign period in 1952.

Mr. Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, decided before the new administration took office that he wanted to make greater use of television after his boss entered the White House. Hagerty also realized he would need some expert advice.

Hagerty's first idea was to add a radio and picture specialist to his permanent staff. When he started shopping around he found the White House budget did not provide enough money to compete in the high-paying radio, television and motion picture fields.

He couldn't hire an assistant who was a specialist in the radio and photographic field, so he started to think about enlisting the unpaid help of an administration friend in the entertainment world.
He knew Montgomery was an ardent Republican, very well fixed financially, and an expert in the field of the microphone and the lens.

He put the idea up to Montgomery who quickly agreed to come to Washington as an unpaid consultant. Now Montgomery is spending more time here than he does in New York where he produces his weekly TV drama.

Montgomery apparently delights in his White House work. Three or four days a week he is in ample evidence buzzing between his tiny White House "office" and the more elaborate quarters of Hagerty from whom the actor and producer takes his orders.

He says he wishes actors were as easy to work with as Mr. Eisenhower. Montgomery is a trifle awed by the fact he can explain some technical point to the President and have the Chief Executive master it quickly.

Heavy tension sometimes builds up in the broadcast room just before the President goes on the air.
Montgomery tries to relieve it with a joke or gag. Before the President's Christmas broadcast, Montgomery handed him a badly gashed golf ball and said something about it on the White House lawn.

Mr. Eisenhower laughed so heartily that his tension disappeared by air time.

New York Central Towns Win 427 New Industries

1. YOUR RAILROAD HELPED TWO WAYS last year to locate 427 new plants in towns and cities on its lines. It worked closely with local chambers of commerce and realtors. And its industrial-development experts kept in constant touch with new or growing businesses that might need factory or warehouse sites.

3. BIG INDUSTRIES AND SMALL were represented among those won for the New York Central communities. Everything from local dairies and canneries to the world's biggest steam-turbine electric generating plant, part of the multi-billion-dollar expansion of private power companies in the area Central serves.

2. MOST IMPORTANT OF ALL was Central's top quality freight service. For this is the factor that makes your town and every town on its lines truly a "Central" location. It links plant sidings directly with six of America's ten top markets and with the busiest and best-served Atlantic seaports.

4. NEW JOBS AND NEW WEALTH moved in with these new industries. New markets for local farmers.
New customers for merchants. Helping to bring this prosperity is another way New York Central forms a living part of the communities it serves. And that's always the CENTRAL IDEA!

The slim-line dresses that are popular this season make perfect basics. A girl who has a way with scarves could, if necessary, build a week's wardrobe around one. This girl sparkles Monday morning efficiency (upper left) above a crisp white grosgrain silk tie that's applied with gay daisies. For a Tuesday evening social engagement (upper center), she wraps an oblong ribbed sheer scarf fachu-fashion around her neck, fastening it at the waist to emphasize the Empire waistline. Wednesday coffee hour finds her (lower left) with another new look. This time she has combined two 24-inch squares to create a distinguished jabot. In a romantic mood one day, she wears a rose garden 36-inch square (lower center) as a bloused bolero. And for dramatic effect on another occasion (right), she has draped a 36-inch square from neck to fingertips, catching it at the waistline with the dress belt. In this arrangement and in most others, effectiveness depends on careful smoothing and fluffing of the material.

THE MOST ADVANCED DESIGN in a car capable of going into volume production is the Mercury Monterey XM-800, a four-passenger hardtop coupe now being shown by the Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor company. Embodying features of both sports and "dream" cars, the XM-800 is only 55.6 inches high. It has radically different exterior styling including a concave front grille, wrap-around windshield and integral bumpers. Individual contoured seats are divided by stationary arm rests containing a variety of controls. The car will be placed in actual production if public demand warrants, according to Benson Ford, vice president and general manager of Lincoln-Mercury.

Self-Employment Tax Guide Sheet Is Available

A special guide sheet to help self-employed persons in correctly reporting their net income for social security tax purposes is now available. E. Bishop Hill, manager of the Harrisburg social security office, announced today.

This leaflet, "Helpful Guides on Reporting Your Self-Employment Tax," he said, has been issued by the Social Security Administration to supplement instructions given with the Federal income tax forms.

Pointing out that social security benefits payable to a self-employed person and his family in his old age, or to his dependents in case of his death, are based on earnings credited to his social security account, Mr. Hill stressed the importance of correct reporting. "It costs the worker as well as the Government additional time and expense when an incomplete or incorrect return has to be straightened out," he declared.

This guide to accurate reporting of self-employment net income is available for the asking at the Harrisburg social security office, or may be obtained at any branch office of the Internal Revenue Service.

Mr. Hill urges all self-employed persons whose trade or business is covered by social security to get a copy before making out their 1953 Federal income tax form. The social security tax of 2 1/2 per cent

Highway Safety Is Not New to Auto Age—Even Old Dobbin Was a Problem

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON 16—Even an old horse lover like me has to admit that maybe it was a good idea Old Nellie was put out to pasture.

At the moment, in our town, we have a White House Conference on Highway Safety. And Adm. H. B. (Min) Miller, Ret., the director, was giving me some figures to show that it is not a new problem of the auto age.

"Take in 1909," he said. "There were 26 million horses and mules in this country. Counting kicking hind-side and so forth, and jumping the traces they killed 3,850 folks that year."

The admiral says those figures prove that the "safe" days of horse and buggy travel were pretty dangerous—in fact, more dangerous than today's auto-jammed highways.

Objective to Save Lives
Horse deaths were 30 people for every hundred million miles of travel. The figures for 1953 show that cars killed seven folks for each hundred million miles. "So, on an exposure basis, the horse killed four times as many as our cars did last year."

But many was the mile I rode with Grandpa Walter Young without a challenge from a red light or the fear of some hot-rod passing on the left. We came through wearing all our limbs, somehow. Anyhow the people meeting here have some ideas about saving lives, which always is important.

At the president's conference are business, labor, civic, official, women's groups, and so on from every state in the Union. Their objective is to reduce the wasteful products of highway travel. Like death, injury and the economic loss which runs into the billions of dollars.

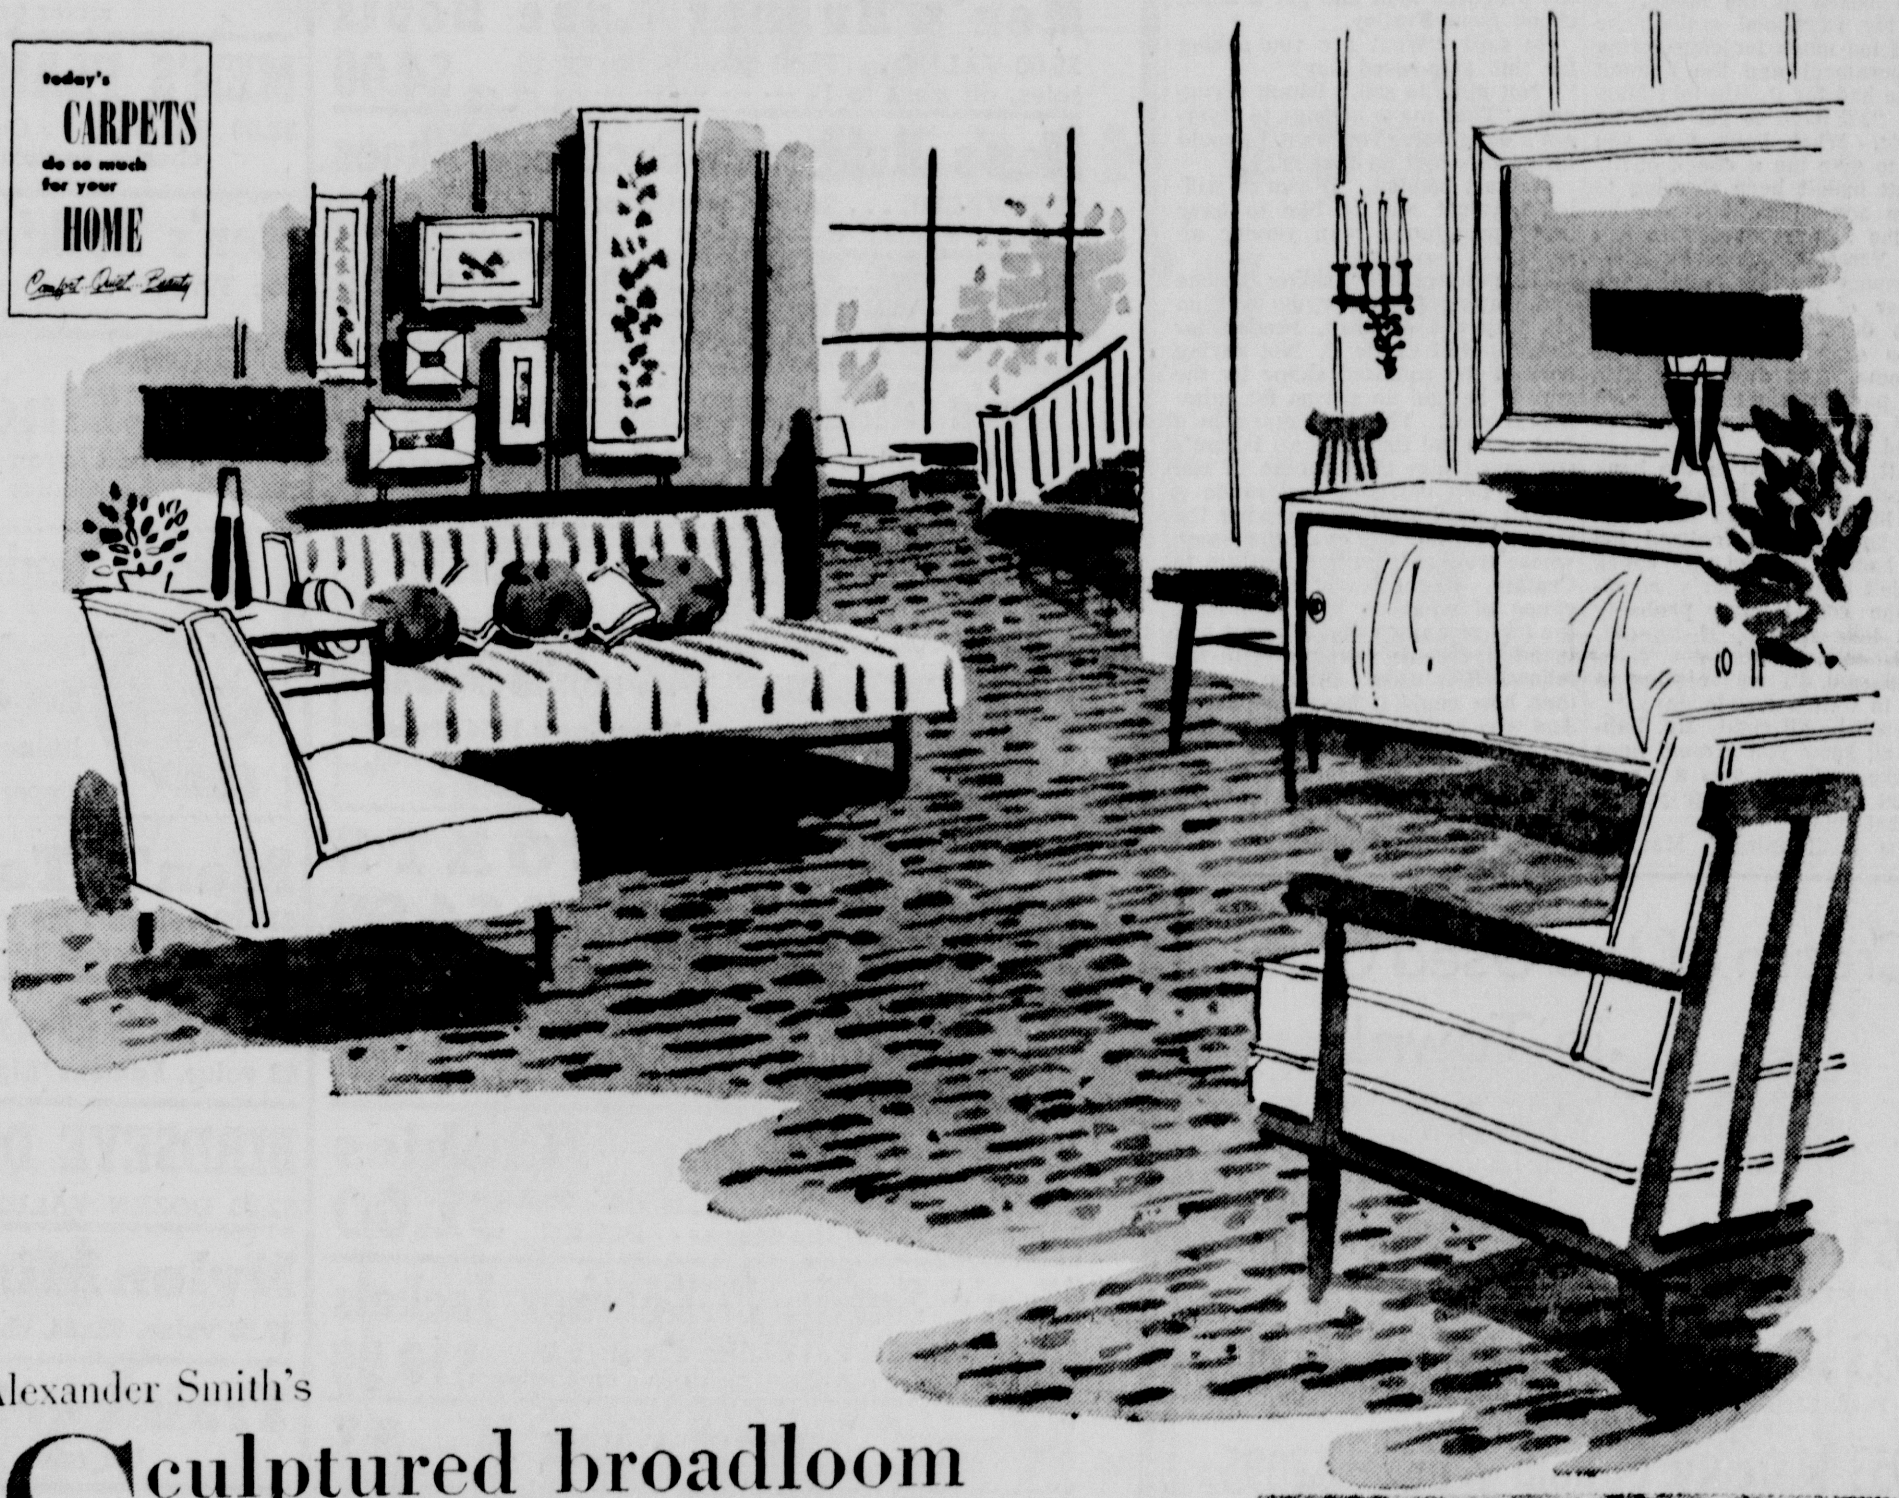

Show Progress
Miller thinks we have made some progress already through education.

"Back in 1925," he says, "we had 20 million cars and trucks on the road. That year our death rate was 18 people for every hundred million miles. That rate has been coming down steadily. The number killed in 1953, with more cars on the road, was less than in 1937 and 1941."

Miller and the other experts guess that there will be 85 million cars on the road by 1975. If you want to bust it down, bumper to bumper, that would be enough to reach the moon, and while up there, 50 four times around the man made of green cheese. Plus maybe a heckuva traffic jam.

THE STORY: Grete Marratt, a fugitive, has learned that Clem Ryerson, owner of the Wineglass ranch, is the man he has sworn to kill. Naome, a girl Marratt had rescued once, is Ryerson's daughter. Marratt is hiding under the assumed identity of Luke Usher, whom he resembles. Luke disappeared 15 years ago after accusing Ryerson of murdering Jake Usher, his father. Chuck Craffkin, Wineglass foreman, is worried about "Luke's" appearance, and knows that Naome has obtained the canceled checks given Craffkin by the Indian agency for Usher cattle. He has sent Tularosa, a half-breed, to take the checks from Naome.

XVI

Marratt, the jingle and serape of his big-roweled spurs sounding loud in the stillness, stepped off the store's porch and swung into the saddle.

He sat woodenly a moment, hung up in his thoughts, the savage impulse he's mastered still brightly reflected in the unseeing look he flung over the street.

He sent the hired gelding quartering over the dust on a tangent that would fetch him past Isham's corral.

He reined in by the 20-foot mound of baled hay stacked windbreak fashion to the right of the enclosure. Isham came over. "How'd you find him, Mr. Usher?"

He meant, of course, the horse; and Marratt said after a moment, "I'd like to get something with a little more bottom and I'm going to tell you right now I haven't got any cash. If you want to make me a deal I'd like that gotch-ear'd gray yonder."

Isham looked at the horse. It was a big rawboned stallion he had paid too much for considering its temperament and the amount of use he had for it. He told Marratt so. "I'll have to get $100 for that hide. What bank was your figurin' to give me a check on?"

Marratt hadn't been figuring to give him any check, but now he turned the thought over. He had cash in Prescott, but if he drew on the money the law would probably hear of it. Still, he might have 10 days before the check could be cleared and traced to Bella Loma. Ten days, and with Clagg's partner right here, he'd have all the time he would have any need for.

Marratt had $15,000 in the bank at Prescott. But as he was opening his mouth to name the bank address he suddenly realized the folly of handing Isham any check that didn't carry Usher's signature. The corral man probably wouldn't take it and, if he did, there'd be talk.

Marratt said, "I was aiming to ask you to wait a couple days." "That will be all right, Mr. Usher. We all know you around here—ain't like as if you was a stranger. Want to use the gear you've got on that geldin'?"

"If you don't mind," Marratt said, and stepped across to a pen that was holding some she stuff. This was not so idle a move as he managed to make it appear. He waved one of the animals around a few paces, admiring its action, covertly noting the comparative size of its tracks. And all the while one part of his mind was still exploring the possibilities of cashing a check.

He needed money—and might be needing it worse before he wound up his score with Clagg's partner. He'd have had his show-down with the skunk right then except for the conditions under which he had met him. When he gunned Clem Ryerson he wanted the man to know why he was being cut down and he couldn't state the facts in front of Naome. He had dug his way out of Yuma to kill Clagg's partner and he wasn't about to let anything stop him.

That money was no good to him in Prescott. He couldn't afford to put his name on a check in a region where everyone knew him as Usher. He couldn't do it in Casa Grande but if he could make the trip quick enough, he might risk going to Ajo or Chandler and, closing out that account, then open a new one under the name of Luke Usher. There'd be risk but the most of it would be wrapped up in the time element, the margin he'd have after passing the check before it could be traced back to him.

Ajo would seem to be the best place, being the only large town in that end of the Territory. Two horses with plenty of bottom, used in relay, should get him there and back in under 24 hours.

The thing to do now was cancel the proposed loan and get a blank check from Frailey.

He said, "What are you asking for this snip-nosed bay?"

"Not mine to sell," Isham shrugged. "That mare belongs to Ryerson's daughter. You want I should throw this hull on that gray?"

Marratt nodded. "If you're willing to trust me I'd like to have that apron-faced roan yonder also."

Ten minutes later, riding the one and leading the other, he was on his way out of town, headed for Usher's Half Circle U. Not having noticed the squatted shape by the smithy he had no reason for missing it now. The bay mare he'd just seen in the pen at Isham's convinced him that Naome, if she hadn't lied outright, had made a mighty good stab at confusing the issue; for the bay was the same whose tracked sign had led him to Craffkin. Regardless of the significance of what he had witnessed, the fact remained that Marratt had found Ryerson's daughter with the fellow. If it wasn't by her choice, then how could it have happened? And why had she been to the agency? What were those slips—

Of course! Those were the checks paid out by Beckwith for the vanished Usher cattle!

AF's Airborne West Point

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The new Air Force Academy is going to be an airborne replica of West Point. Trouble is, it doesn't have a place to land.

Ever since the Air Force has been independent, Defense Department officials and congressmen have agreed that it should have its own equivalent of Annapolis and West Point.

The bug has been getting anyone to agree where it should be located. Even President Eisenhower admitted the other day he had his private conviction where it should be—which he is keeping private.

There has been so much tugging by congressmen to get the AF Academy in their districts that they've overlooked approving it. Now the plan is to authorize its establishment and let a special commission appointed by the Secretary of the Air Force decide where to build it.

Everyone connected with the project is so confident this will work they're predicting the first class will be graduated in 1959.

According to present plans the basic course will be four years, there will be an honor system like West Point's, the bulk of appointments will be made by congress, graduates will receive regular commissions and pay and allowances will be the same as in the other service schools.

"In establishing and operating the Air Force Academy we look for much of our guidance to the two existing academies, leaning heavily on West Point," explains Lt. Gen. Hubert R. Harmon, a West Point grad himself who came out of retirement to work on the school project.

"However," Gen. Harmon says, "we do not intend to follow the concepts and procedures of the other schools blindly because we propose that our graduates shall be air-faring men in the fullest sense; air-minded and thoroughly indoctrinated in all aspects of air operations."

There's still doubt as to whether

Dr. George H. Hand of SIU is Named Chairman of Area Boy Scout Drive

Dr. George H. Hand, vice-president of Southern Illinois university, has been named general chairman for the 1954 finance campaign of the Egyptian Council of Boy Scouts, it was announced today.

The appointment of Hand, one of four vice-presidents of the Egyptian Council which directs Scouting activities in 15 counties, was disclosed by H. L. Kunz, Council president.

The fund drive will seek to raise $169,599 to maintain and extend Scouting in southern Illinois during the coming year and to complete the 170-acre Boy Scout camp started at Little Grassy lake last summer.

"If we put this drive over the top," Hand said in accepting the finance campaign post, "it will be an important element in attracting industry to southern Illinois because industry likes to locate in an area where people are willing to work hard to get things done."

"I firmly believe that I should support an organization that will give Southern Illinois better men and, therefore, improve the area," he said. "Anything that improves the individual upon whom our free society is based is worthy of support and the Boy Scouts of America is a worthy organization."

SIU's vice-president for business affairs said that all citizens of a free country should do what they could to strengthen the most important organizations of our society.

"This is especially true of the organizations that exist from volunteer services and volunteer contributions because they symbolize a free society," Hand asserted.

He said the finance campaign would get underway as soon as drive leaders and solicitors had been organized in each of the seven Boy Scout districts of the Egyptian Council. A meeting of top district leadership was held at the Marion Motel today.

Last year, the fund drive netted $161,233, nearly $66,000 of which was channeled into development of the camp site on Little Grassy lake leased to the Boy Scouts by the Fish and Wildlife Service. An additional $32,000 in pledges will be put into camp construction, and materials and electrical engineering. In the senior years we teach thermodynamics, jet propulsion, aerodynamics and aircraft design."

Graduates will not get aeronautical engineering degrees. They will be given many social sciences courses. Compared to the 2400 total hours of time on technical subjects required of graduates of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, for instance, the AF Academy will require only 1600 hours. But this will qualify selected graduates to enter civilian technical schools for degrees later.

If congress authorizes the Academy this year, it is expected that preparatory steps will take about 12 months. Then the first class will be assembled to start studies in July, 1955, at an interim site not yet agreed upon. A second class would be started in July, 1956. By July of 1957 construction on the permanent site should be far enough along for the third class

Ex-Army Corporal, Member of State Police Force Seven Years, Now Drives for Stratton

By DON CHAMBERLAIN
SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(Special)—An ex-army corporal of World War II does the driving now for Gov. William G. Stratton. He is Leonard E. Wertz, Pontiac, a member of the State Police force for more than seven years. Wertz, elevated from sergeant to lieutenant several months ago, replaced Capt. Everett D. Van Diver, who is in charge of the state police detail assigned to the Executive Mansion, and who now gives that his full attention.

Wertz has a unique record as a driver. He has never had an accident. In his more than seven years as a state policeman both on patrol in the Pontiac State Police District and for the last nine months as driver and bodyguard to the governor, he has driven close to 350,000 miles. In World War II, 37 of the 39 months Wertz was in service were spent abroad. He saw service in Africa, England, Ireland, Italy and Sicily.

State Agriculture Director Stillman J. Stanard is warning Illinois farmers to beware of a Wisconsin potato disease. He says it poses a threat to growing in Illinois unless extreme measures are taken to prevent it from gaining a foothold in this state. Illinois farmers buying seed potatoes from the Badger state, he said, should avoid purchasing them from sources in the vicinity of Antigo and Kenosha, Wisconsin.

Stanard describes the disease as "nematode rot" and said that while it is not a threat to health it is a threat to industry once it gains a foothold in the soil. He said infected soils have to be abandoned insofar as potato growing is concerned. He expressed hope that the cooperation of Wisconsin in maintaining a strict quarantine on the known infested areas will make it needless for Illinois to put an embargo on Wisconsin seed potatoes.

If Joseph Meek wins the Republican nomination for U. S. Senator and then defeats Democrat Incumbent Paul H. Douglas, former University of Chicago professor in the election, he should give a youthful helper a great big assist. The youth is Douglas McLain, Springfield, where in the shadow of the Capitol it is natural for one of the McLain clan to turn his hand to politics or to write about politics. Young Doug has done both.

A graduate of the University of Illinois he has been a reporter for the Illinois State Register and has worked for his uncle, Harold H. Riefler, who operates an information service to keep big business and various groups informed as to what is going on in state government. Young Doug also is a nephew of the late State Sen. Bill Knox, and full of ideas.

Still another uncle, the late Harry C. Bettinghaus, for years was assistant and advisor to former GOP U. S. Sen. C. Wayland Brooks. In his zeal for success for Meek (and he says it isn't split with an "s" on the end of it) he has visited many countries in the state, talked to local leaders and has been given credit for originating the idea of getting 30 Republican state senators to put their stamp of approval on Meek.

McLain who is only 27, was quite a pitcher in his University of Illinois student days. Once when strapped for money he used to sell ice cream at the school's baseball games. Sales were slow and there was competition. So he went to a nearby store, bought a 25 cent can of chocolate syrup, put a little in each ice cream cup and pretty soon he had a monopoly. He is a U. S. Navy veteran of World War II.

Governor Stratton appeared startled last week when a newsman asked him at a recent press conference if Washington had requested information about commies on the state payroll. He added however, that the state safety department is now equipped to fingerprint all state employees and is in the process of doing so, particularly at state institutions.

He said it was surprising at some of the things the fingerprinting turned up. He said it disclosed that some employees who had been with the state for a long time were shown to have records, mostly however when they were real young and he conveyed the impression that there was not anything sensational about discovering some with ancient records. He said he expected the state would continue processing until all employees had been fingerprinted.

Illinois prison population had a daily average of 8,808 during December, last month for which statistics are available, according to State Safety Director Joseph D. Bibb. It was an increase of 223 as compared with December, 1952. The Joliet Stateville branch averaged 4,208, up 53; Menard 1,781, down 33; Pontiac 1,444, up 104; Dwight 189, up 15; and Vandalia 1,186, an increase of 84.
